Sunday September 11th saw the two buildings being moved and placed in their new location.

It was a precarious move watched by many residents, staff, friends, family and neighbours plus a few onlookers on the side of the road at various points along the way.

The moving guys and girls from Alpha did a fantastic job, cutting trees and lifting power lines to ensure the buildings could get through. It was quite amazing to watch the way they manoeuvred and manipulated the trucks, hydraulics and buildings to get them safely on site.

From this point in the Development Project the progress will be mostly contained to the interior of the building for the next few months.

It will be very exciting once the building is safe for us to go inside at which point we will truly begin to get a feel for what the new hub and therapy room will look like!
